Catering

Decorations

You may use the decorator of your choice. Feel free to decorate with free-standing flowers, flower petals on the tables, centerpieces, and chair attachments, as long as no adhesive is used. Please do not affix decorations to the walls, windows, floor or ceilings unless prior approval. If you are using candles in your room décor, each candle must be placed inside a non-flammable container and the flame of the lighted candle must be below the rim of the container. We recommend non-scented candles for the enjoyment of your guests. Emerald Ridge reserves the right to charge an appropriate fee if there is any damage to the facility or if extra cleanup is required. Access to the event facility for decorating must be coordinated with the event coordinator.

Move-in / Move-out

The client booking the event can move-in on Wednesday after 3 p.m. to start your set-up and decorations. Anytime after that is when your DJ, florist and baker can access the space. The end time of the event will be 12 a.m., and your move-out time is no later than 3 p.m. on Sunday. All décor must be removed from your venue space at the end of the event unless other arrangements have been made in advance.

Parking

Each venue has its own parking and is separate from the other. Please notify the event coordinator if arrangements are necessary for overnight parking.

Financial Arrangements

An initial non-refundable deposit of $500.00 is due when signing your venue contract. This secures your venue and date. Emerald Ridge charges an additional damage security deposit of $150.00 which is refundable as long as there is no damage. Two weeks prior to your event, the remaining balance of the venue fee and total catering estimate is due. There will be no money exchanged the day of your event. After your event takes place there will be a walk-through to determine if there is any damage to the facility.

10 Tips for a Perfect Outdoor Wedding

- 1. Make your guests comfortable Think about what the weather will likely be at the time of day and month of the year of your outdoor wedding. Sunny and hot? Don't leave your guests uncomfortably melting – have your ushers give guests ice-cold bottles of water as they are seated. Consider printing your wedding program on a fan so that guests may cool themselves. Don't forget to have plenty of sunscreen on hand as well. For a very warm location, look into renting large electric fans (don't forget a generator) and/or a tent to shade the sun's rays. If it will be cold and damp, make sure you tell guests that so they can wear extra layers. A simple Xeroxed insert will do. You might want to have lap blankets on hand, or rent portable heaters.
- 2. Have a backup plan What will you do if it rains? The ideal outdoor wedding location has an indoor location waiting just in case. Many brides and grooms opt to have their ceremony outside and reception inside. In a pinch, the tables can be scooted to the back of the room during the ceremony. A tent is another option, but only for light to moderate rain storms. A heavy rain will soak the ground underneath, leaving guests with soggy and muddy shoes. Make sure any tent you rent is sturdy so it won't flip over, and that it has thick and weighted sides.
- 3. Plan for Wind Many outdoor weddings suffer from windy conditions. Avoid light fabrics like chiffons and china silks in your dress and the bridesmaid dresses. Tell your hairstylist that you'll be having an outdoor wedding so she/he can plan a style that won't leave you looking like Cousin It! Men in the wedding party should use pomade or other styling product. Again, tell your guests in a printed insert so that they can plan accordingly. And of course, make sure your tent will stand up to gusting winds or find an indoor backup plan.
- 4. Can everybody hear? When you picture your dream wedding at the beach, you're probably not hearing the roaring of the waves, the rushing wind, or the local kids running and screaming around you. Look into renting a sound system with clip mikes for the bride, groom and officiate. Your DJ or band may be able to easily arrange this for you.
- 5. Decorations One of the bonuses of an outdoor wedding is the natural beauty around you, lessening your need to decorate. But you still need to do some work. Visit the site a week before your wedding to make sure the grass is mown, the ground raked, and the flowers have bloomed. If your wedding is at a public park, you may want to ask the groomsmen or friends to do this the morning of your ceremony. If it's been an especially cold season, you may need to supplement the flowers with some potted bulbs from a florist. Other decorations you may want to consider include an arch or trellis to focus the ceremony and frame the bride and groom as they say their vows; strings of lights or lanterns in the trees; luminaries; torches; or farolitas.
- 6. Make things tasty outside Does your caterer have experience planning an outdoor wedding menu? Make sure they're planning things that will keep well outdoors in the heat. Avoid things like mayonnaise salads or dishes which must be served cold.
- 7. Don't leave your guests parched Since alcohol is dehydrating; consider serving a variety of lemonades, teas and punches. Be sure to have plenty of ice and water around as well. For a fancy cocktail, why not serve a classic mint julep or a mojito? The mint will refresh and cool your guests.

8. Those pesky flying things be sure to put out citronella candles or a bug zapper so that your guests won't spend the whole ceremony swatting at the air.
9. Here comes the sun Consider timing your outdoor wedding for sunset where your guests will see you take your vows surrounded by the warm glow of the sun. Those having a daytime outdoor wedding should orient the ceremony so that the sun will be on guests' backs rather than in their eyes.
10. Permits Don't forget to contact your city parks department or other local government to get a permit for an outdoor wedding. Be sure to ask about rules concerning trash removal, candle or torch lighting, and pre-wedding photography.
